- Police resources continue to monitor encampment activity for any signs that they intend to return to Ottawa
- The area bounded by Bronson – Laurier – the Rideau Canal – Wellington continues to be remediated by the City, hampered by today's snow event, and is still only open to local traffic as a result
- Wellington is restricted to Parliamentary Staff vehicles only (access at Wellington/Bay and Kent/Sparks)
- Pedestrians have the ability to move throughout the downtown core, including Parliament Hill
- Once the streets are reopened it will be announced at @OttawaTraffic

- Currently no protesters at Booth and the Sir John A MacDonald Parkway
- Police resources are monitoring possible incoming protests that may occur this weekend, due to both the Freedom Convoy and the Russian invasion of the Ukraine
- Protesters have started attending the tow yard to retrieve their impounded vehicles
- A reminder for the public in the downtown core to expect spontaneous disruptions to traffic given the weather, the conditions of the local roads and possible increased pedestrian traffic

Good morning. Here is the first update on the convoy demonstration for February 25th. Updates will come periodically throughout the day.

A friendly reminder that information contained in these emails is restricted to the Intersect partner agencies at this level. Please do not forward this information.

- The police presence continues in the downtown core
- The City of Ottawa Road Department's remediation efforts continue as well and could be hampered by today's weather
- Police resources continue to monitor the protest vehicles staging within and outside of the City of Ottawa limits
- The current status of the interprovincial bridges is as follows:
- Alexandra Bridge is open
- Champlain Bridge is open
- Chaudière Crossing is open
- Macdonald-Cartier Bridge is open
- Portage Bridge is open but southbound is reduced to 1 lane
